Kress Collection At Wesleyan

Wesleyan invites all of her alumnae and their friends to see the Samuel H. Kress collections of Italian paintings, a priceless group of masterpieces of the 13th and 14th centuries, which will be exhibited at Wesleyan College, Rivoli, from November 21 to December 12.

This collection of over 60 works of art, showing the development of the art of painting in Italy in its principal schools, is being loaned to Macon and Wesleyan by Mr. Kress of New York, a patron of art, at the request of Dr. D. R. Anderson, president of Wesleyan.

For some years past Mr. Kress has donated paintings to the museums of various cities throughout the country for the purpose of encouraging an appreciation of art. In 1932 he chose this group of paintings which he believes to be comprehensive in its scope and in its characteristic examples, and sent it to seven cities in the United States.

The tour was made in seven months, each exhibition necessitating the most careful packing and handling of these delicate masterpieces. The collection is packed into 26 cases of white pine, lined with special trays, "bumper" cushions of sponge rubber, and is loaded into two safety vaults for shipping.

The paintings show a number of religious subjects, since no comprehensive collection of paintings from Medieval times up to the Reformation could show the development of art without a preponderance of religious subjects. The arts were engaged in the service of the church and religious organizations, almost exclusively, to the culmination of the Renaissance. With the developing of individualism in the Renaissance we find more frequent portraits, mythological and allegorical subjects, and landscapes.

Madonna and Child, by Cosimo Roselli;

Madonna and Child, St. John, and Angels, by Piero di Cosimo; Flagellation of Christ, by Paolo Schiavo; Interior of the Pantheon, by Pannini; Holy Family, by Benedetto Diana; The Grand Canal by Canaletto are some of the paintings in the collection. Holy Conversation, the painting which is shown in the photograph on the opposite page, is one of the most magnificent of the collection. The artist, Bonifazio Veronese, was noted for his elegance of composition and splendor of coloring. The painting comes from the Giovannelli Collection of Venice.

Handsome catalogs showing pictures of 56 of the masterpieces and giving information about the artists and the schools represented, have been provided by Mr. Kress. Mr. Stephen S. Pichetto, consulting restorer of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, assisted in the arrangement of the exhibition and in the preparation of this catalog. Mr. Pichetto's personal representative, Mr. Robbins, will be at Wesleyan throughout the exhibition.

The Kress collection shows clearly the three periods of Renaissance art: the Primitives, from 1400 to 1450; the True Renaissance, from 1450 to 1500; and the High Renaissance, from 1500 to 1550.

Some of the old paintings are not yet sufficiently acclimated, and those painted on wood (panels) are under the protection of shadow boxes and glass. The two largest are an oval 6½ feet in height and a panel, 1½ feet wide and 11 feet high. The collection is to be placed in the new Wesleyan buildings because these are adequately fireproof.

Lecturer

Wesleyan has been singularly fortunate in securing Frank Jewett Mather, Jr., recommended by both the University of Chicago school of Art and the American Federation of Arts in Washington as the best authority in the United States on Italian art, as a speaker during the exhibition.

Dr. Mather is professor emeritus of the History of Art at Princeton University. His volume of lectures on The History of Art, delivered in Cleveland, is in the Wesleyan library.

Dr. Mather will lecture at Wesleyan on November 26 and 27. All alumnae of the college and friends who are interested in art are invited to attend. Wesleyan takes great pleasure in offering the cultural advantage of these lectures, together with the exhibition of this collection of masterpieces, through the generosity of Mr. Kress, to the state of Georgia.

The Historical Essay Contest

Wesleyan is offering for the second time a full-tuition scholarship to the winner in a state-wide historical essay contest. Last year 90 high school seniors entered this contest, and many of these girls were at Wesleyan for Dormitory Day in April.

RULES OF CONTEST

Eligibility—

Any girl enrolled in regular attendance in the senior class of any accredited high school of Georgia shall be eligible for the contest, provided that in June, 1935, she can offer the required units for unconditioned admission to Wesleyan and is otherwise eligible for admission to Wesleyan.

Registration—

Students who wish to enter the contest must send names, together with statement of credits signed by the principal of the school, to Wesleyan College by February 15, 1935.

Subjects—

The fields for the essay subjects are as follows:

A. GENERAL FIELD:

1. History of Georgia.
 - a. Colonial Georgia through the period of the Revolution
 - b. From the Revolution to 1860
 - c. 1860-1870
 - d. Since 1870
2. Natural Features of Georgia and Coast Islands
3. Georgia Industries
4. Transportation, Trade and Commerce
5. The Indians of Georgia
6. Capitols and Capital Cities of Georgia
7. Early Settlers of Georgia

B. LOCAL FIELD:

1. Education, with special attention to growth and development of academies, seminaries, and colleges
2. Buildings and Shrines
3. Interesting Spots in My Locality

4. Roads and Trails
5. Cemeteries, Tombstones, and Epitaphs
6. Albums, Daguerreotypes, Early Portraits, Family Portraits
7. Letters, Wills, and Other Documents of Historical Value
8. Famous Characters of My Locality
9. My Community During the Colonial Period
10. My Community During the Revolution
11. My Community During the War Between the States
12. My Community During the Reconstruction Days
13. What My Community Has Contributed to Georgia
14. History of My Locality
15. Reminiscences of My Elders

The 1934 Award—

The 1934 scholarship was awarded to Eleanor Peel Strickland, Concord, Ga., for her essay "Causes of the American Revolution in Georgia." Among the subjects that interested the judges were "The History of Columbus, Ga.," "Cooper's Iron Works at Cartersville," and "History of Education in Madison."

Help—The contestant may choose any one of the fields and may get help from teachers, librarians, or any available source in preparation. The actual essay must be written under supervision of a teacher and must have a minimum of 1,500 words.

Writing the Essay—The day of March 16, will be allowed for the actual writing of the essays. The contestant may use 500 words of notes, provided that the sheet of notes, with words numbered, is given at the beginning of the period to the person holding the contest. This person shall sign the sheet of notes and return it to the contestant for use during the contest, and collect them at the end of the contest. No other material will be allowed.

Only contestants and the person holding the contest will be allowed in the room. A fictitious name must be used on each page of the essay, and the real name of the contestant put in a sealed envelope attached to each essay.

Time and Place—The contest will be held Saturday, March 16, 1935, at several centers in each Congressional District, these places to be announced later.

Judging—The essays are to be mailed immediately to the judges of the districts, and by the district judges to Wesleyan College. The three best essays of each district are to be marked First Place, Second Place, and Third Place.

The final judges of the contest shall be the President of Wesleyan, the Head of the History department of Wesleyan, and one member of the Board of Trustees of Wesleyan or some other person chosen by the president of Wesleyan. The essays are to be judged on:

- (a) Historical value and originality of subject matter
- (b) Organization of material
- (c) General excellence

Other Scholarships—In some cases, smaller scholarships will be offered to the local and district winners by the Wesleyan alumnae in the towns and districts. These will be announced later by the alumnae clubs.

The Winner—The name of the winner for the state together with the names of the winners of each district will be announced on

DORMITORY DAY AT WESLEYAN COLLEGE

APRIL 20, 1935

Be Sure to Remember

LOYALTY FUND

The Loyalty Fund this year to be used for scholarships again will be a memorial to two of Wesleyan's beloved alumnae, Mollie E. Mason, A. B. 1870, and Ella (Anderson) Clark, A. B. '62.

"Miss Mollie," who died in February at the age of 81, was for many years a teacher of art at Wesleyan, and later had her own art school in her home in Macon. She taught until just a few days before her death, from pneumonia, and was a gracious and charming figure in Macon in her picturesque black dress and bonnet, with her soft white curls around her face.

Mrs. J. O. A. Clark, the oldest alumna in Macon, was nearing her ninetieth birthday. She died in August after nearly a year in bed with a broken hip. She was at one time president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association, and was always whole-heartedly devoted to Wesleyan, attending every Commencement until her accident, and taking an active part in everything for the interest of the college.

BOARD MEETING

Annie (Bates) Haden, newly elected president of the National Wesleyan Alumnae Association, entertained members of the Executive Board of the association at a delightful luncheon at the Capital City Club in Atlanta on September 29.

Plans for the work of the Alumnae Association for the year were made.

ARBOR DAY

Octavia (Burden) Stewart, chairman of the campus committee, will name a day in January as "Wesleyan Arbor Day". She plans to have a special program and tree-planting at this time, and suggests that classes, clubs, and individuals who are interested in giving some tree in memory of a friend or in honor of a class write to her (Mrs. T. J. Stewart, Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.) or to the alumnae office.

Campus trees will be planted according to the landscape plans drawn up by the department of agriculture at the University of Georgia for Wesleyan. The campus committee will gladly suggest kinds of trees which would be suitable for the Wesleyan campus.

HISTORICAL TREASURES

Wesleyan received recently three gifts of historical interest.

Minnie (Wilcox) Anderson, of the class of 1886, sent to Wesleyan a copy of Sidney Lanier's poems, autographed by his wife, the former Mary Day, whose family boarded at Wesleyan as refugees during the War Between the States. Mrs. Anderson writes: "Please recall my promise to send you a copy of Lanier's poems which his wife had given to my husband and me the Christmas after our marriage in 1891. Aside from the value of the poems, I think the fact that Mary Day lived at Wesleyan and was married from the old Wesleyan building is interesting. I still have pleasant memories of my class reunion in May."

Lee (Redding) Vorhees, of the class of 1881, gave to Wesleyan a program of the Sophomore Exhibition in 1879. Some of the names appearing on the program are Lee Redding, Eliza Davis, Katie Drane, Ria Weaver, Claude Freeman, Clara Harris, Mary Lou Bacon, Annie Hamburger, and Mary Ellen Johnston. The class was trained by Mrs. J. B. Cobb.

Lester Hargrett, a friend of Wesleyan, gave to the college a letter written by a Wesleyan student, Mollie Watts, in 1863. It appears from this letter, written during one of the most interesting and tragic periods of the college's history, that schoolgirls then were very like schoolgirls today; the writer wants money for books and music, and for "pocket money."

DORMITORY DAY

Dormitory Day this year will be April 20th. On this day we invite high school seniors who are interested in going to college to spend a day and night in the Wesleyan dormitories as the guests of our students.

The winner of the Historical Essay Contest, who will receive a full tuition scholarship to Wesleyan, will be announced on this day.

If you know of any high school girl who would be interested, please send us her name and address. We will be glad to invite her.

COMMENCEMENT IN 1935

Commencement dates are:

Friday, May 24th—Expression recital

Saturday, May 25th—Alumnae Day—Graduation Exercises of Conservatory.

Sunday, May 26th—Baccalaureate Sermon.

Monday, May 27th—Commencement Day—Graduation Exercises of College.

Reunion classes for '35 are:

1881, 1882, 1883, 1884,

1900, 1901, 1902, 1903

1919, 1920, 1921 and 1922.

THE STUDENT BODY THIS YEAR

Wesleyan has the largest freshman class in four years; it numbers 99. The total enrollment, in spite of the fact that the largest class in college graduated in May, 1934, is more than that of last year.

Wesleyan College students are from Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Kentucky, South Carolina, Tennessee, West Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Indiana, Cuba, the Canal Zone, Korea, and China.

Wesleyan girls are members of the following churches:

Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Catholic, and Jewish.

Forty Macon girls are in the student body at the college, and many more at the conservatory, in the regular courses and in the fine arts.

Eighteen students at the college and two at the conservatory are receiving help from Wesleyan Alumnae Scholarship funds.

Jacqueline Howard, freshman, great granddaughter of Rev. John Howard, Wesleyan founder.

Daughters, Granddaughters, and Great Granddaughters

Wesleyan has a distinction which few colleges can claim; seven students in college today are the great granddaughters of Wesleyan alumnae.

Nineteen Wesleyan girls are the granddaughters of alumnae; twenty-nine are the daughters of alumnae.

Elizabeth Walker, a member of the senior class, is daughter, granddaughter and great granddaughter of Wesleyan alumnae. Eleven of her aunts and great aunts also attended her Alma Mater.

Jacqueline Howard, freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schley Howard of Atlanta, is a great granddaughter of the Rev. John Howard, one of three Methodist ministers who went over the state in 1836 soliciting funds for the building of the "first college for women." Jacqueline's family has a letter written by John Howard to his son before the opening of Wesleyan and enthusiastically reporting $900 in subscriptions in one day for the new college.

Mary Rumph, Junior, is a granddaughter of Dr. Edward H. Myers, former president of Wesleyan, and the only president to serve two separate terms of office.

Class Notes

1862

All of Wesleyan was saddened this summer by the death of our oldest alumna in Macon, Ella (Anderson) Clark. She had been in bed almost a year with a broken hip, but was wonderfully cheerful and interested in everything around her. In spite of her 89 years, she was keenly alert mentally, would call the roll of her Wesleyan class and describe each classmate, tell some little incident about each one. Her daughters, Lella, of the class of '89, and Ruth of the class of '97, were her constant and devoted companions during her long illness.

Mrs. Clark leaves also two sons, Anderson and Osgood.

During the summer the alumna office heard from a graduate of the class of '62 with whom they had been out of touch for a long time. She is Gabriella Harrison, now Mrs. B. H. deJarnette of 1828 Kenyon St., Washington, D. C. She wrote:

"A young friend and neighbor, a student of George Washington University here was kind enough to bring me a copy of the Adelphian, the magazine of Alpha Delta Pi. One of the pages is devoted to a photograph and sketch of Mrs. J. O. A. Clark, formerly Ella Anderson of my class. It was for me a long look backward.

"Of all the memories of the past the dearest to me are those of my childhood and girlhood, of Wesleyan and Macon, Dr. Bass, Mr. Smith ("Little Dixit"), and many others. I was a Philomathean.

"Please believe that Wesleyan is still dear to my heart, no memory dearer."

We were delighted to hear from this Wesleyan graduate of long ago. We took her letter to her classmate, Ella (Anderson) Clark, who was then in bed with a broken hip at her home on Arlington Place. Mrs. Clark was thrilled to hear from "Gabriella", whom she recalled as a strikingly handsome and very charming girl.

Bessie (Reed) Napier of Macon enjoyed a trip to Pittsburg to visit her son during the summer. She was accompanied by her daughter Bessie (Napier) Bonner, and upon her return said that she was ready to start out again to repeat the trip, she had enjoyed it so much and so many things were done for her pleasure and comfort. She has sent the college some old papers obtained from members of her family. Some letters from Mamie (Haygood) Ardis were written by Mamie's uncle Mr. J. L. Moultrie of Union Springs, Ala., in his eighty-fifth year. He wrote in 1894 "Of all the schools within my knowledge I would prefer Emory College, at Oxford, for a boy. He could get along there on about $225.00 a year. For a girl I would prefer Wesleyan, in Macon. It was the first Female college ever built in the world; and the building of that college was the means of directing the attention of the civilized world to the necessity of a higher education for females. It may be a pleasure for you to know that your old Uncle was instrumental in thus blessing your sex.

"I canvassed the city from house to house on the importance of such a college; for I knew that man's happiness depended on woman, and though men govern the world, the women make the men.

"I have tried to be of use to the world. In 1829 I was licensed to preach and have reason to believe many have been saved through my labors. I was the instigation of building the first female college in the world, my feelings became so enlisted on the subject that I canvassed Macon from house to house, urging the necessity of such an institution. I so far succeeded in enlisting some of the leading men, that when several of them were together and someone mentioned the necessity of a new female academy, Rev. Elijah Sinclair said, 'Why not make it a college?' and they decided that it should be a college. By my efforts, I obtained $20,000 through the Legislature and on my own responsibility I traveled over S. E. Georgia and got subscriptions."

Sally (Love) Banks was honor guest at the Founders' Day luncheon in Memphis, Tenn. of the Phi Mu Alumnae Association. She related incidents of her schooldays at Wesleyan where she was a member of the Philomathean Society.

1870

Mary (Brantley) Hatch is a "shut-in"

from having a bad fall some months ago. She lives with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Kite, 639 Ponce de Leon Ave., Decatur, Ga. She is cheerful and busy with crocheting and other fancy work, and is always interested in anything that concerns Wesleyan, and would welcome cards and letters from her friends.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Thomas Peters (Kate Ross), 358 Parkway Dr., Atlanta, Ga.

Alice (Houser) Clarke, oldest member of the Wesleyan Alumnae Club of Macon County, celebrated her 79th birthday April 26. Her granddaughter, Celetta Clarke, is a member of the junior class at Wesleyan and is making a splendid record.

Kate (Ross) Peters writes: "Clara (Wells) Hoge, Sallie (Jones) Sharpe, Loula (Dozier) Lowndes and I have met together very pleasantly, and I am planning to give a 'coming out party' when I feel better."

1874

Minnie (Bass) Burden and her husband, R. F. Burden celebrated their 54th wedding anniversary in September. In the same week Mr. Burden had his 83rd birthday. Vineville Church, of which the couple have long been members, showered them with gifts and honors.

1876

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. G. Solomon (Lillian Roberts), 107 Buford Place, Macon, Ga.

In one of his columns in the Atlanta Journal "Coming Down My Creek" Harry Stillwell Edwards wrote: "Suddenly I am back in the seventies of the last century and hurrying along College street down in Macon to the lovely home of Lilly Roberts, my faithful guitar tucked under my arm. Kate Tinsley, Leila Gordon, Lizzie Plant, and Roxie Lane were there, 'The Rosebuds,' they call themselves, and most happily. I have composed a valentine verse for one of them—never mind which one. (The fact is, I am not sure as to that myself.) But it read:

You've won my heart
And I've won yours,
And now the mischief's done.
You'll surely see

As well as I

That our two hearts are won!

I added "(one)" for fear some of the girls might overlook the pun!

"That was sixty years ago, yet three of those lovely girls are yet living, and to me just as lovely. To the cynic who would remind me that the good die young, I reply in advance, that the good are always young. But I would that I might know what part in my long career of journalistic and magazine writer this little bouquet of "Rosebuds" has played. I would like to testify in gratitude to the survivors, and on the graves of those fallen asleep, lay wreaths of rosemary."

Florrie (Allen) Chappell was at Wesleyan this fall for a little visit, coming up with Rev. H. T. Freeman whose daughter, Grace, is a member of the freshman class. She thought the new college beautiful, and was most enthusiastic about the campus. She had not seen it since the Commencement day nearly ten years ago when she marched in the alumnae procession in costume to the ceremony of ground-breaking for the new buildings. She was disappointed at not seeing her dear friend, Lillian (Roberts) Solomon, who happened to be out of town when she was here.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Washington Dessau (Fannie Gilmer) 301 Hines Terrace, Macon, Ga.

The picture of Fannie (Gilmer Dessau) on the preceding page was made in the dress which she wore as matron of honor in the wedding of her granddaughter, Geraldine Wheeler, A. B. '29. Geraldine is the fourth generation of her family to come to Wesleyan.

Dr. Norman I Brunner, husband of the late Annie (Gray) Brunner, died in Miami, Fla., in May at the age of 81.

Sympathy is extended to Genie (Munnerlyn) Etheridge in the death of her son, Fletcher Hanson Etheridge of San Antonio, Texas, who was drowned at Galveston, Texas, when the undertow carried him out from shore while he was swimming with a friend. As a boy Hanson Etheridge attended school in Geneva, Switzerland, and returning home, was graduated from Lanier high school in Macon, and Woodberry Forest in Virginia. He was a cadet at Virginia Military Institute when the World War began, and as one of 10 members of the graduating class with the highest grades was made aide to Brigadier General Vaughn of Virginia. He was later made instructor with the rank of captain. After retiring from active service he was affiliated with the Pan American Oil Co., and later with the Rio Grande Oil Co. He leaves his wife, formerly Miss Belle Gary of Texas, and two children, Lillian and Fletcher Hanson, Jr.

Georgia (Stroberg) Ingraham is much improved in health, and is now able to walk around the block.

Fannie (Gilmer) Dessau, Class Secretary

1879

Pearl (Napier) O'Daniel is again president of the Alpha alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi in Macon.

John T. Boifeuillet, a distinguished figure in Georgia journalism and politics, died in May after a long illness. He was the husband of Clara (Nutting) Boifeuillet, who died in 1901. They had four children, two of whom are living, Elizabeth, now Mrs. John A. Crawford, and Clara, now Mrs. Frederick R. Jones of Atlanta. A granddaughter, Clare Boifeuillet Jones, was married recently to Dr. James Lee Pittman of Atlanta.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Alfred Truitt (Ida Price), 1027 Columbia Ave. Atlanta, Ga.

Stella (Hunt) King and her husband, Campbell T. King celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary June 9 at their home in Macon.

1881

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. W. Daves (Annie Hopkins), Cartersville, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

1882

Class Secretary: Mrs. Mary Anderson (Mary Jones), Talladega, Ala.

REUNION IN MAY

Lilly (Dunlap) Stevens is recuperating from an illness at her beautiful home on College Street in Macon.

Gussie (Jones) Winn spent the summer with her son, Stewart, and his wife in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Laura (Jones) Damour went to Florida with her son, George, and his wife, and had such a delightful time that she had to come home to recuperate afterward!

Mary (Jones) Anderson writes: "I recently attended the wedding of my niece, Clare Boifeuillet Jones, who married Dr. J. L. Pittman. Clare is the granddaughter of two Wesleyan graduates, Elizabeth Jane (Shields) Jones, A.B. '85, and Clara (Nutting) Boifeuillet, A.B. '79. My own grandson, Carleton Burke Chapman, has to his credit three grandmothers who graduated from old Wesleyan, my own mother (his great grandmother, of course); his father's mother, Flora (Smith) Chapman, an honor graduate; and myself. I also have three young granddaughters in Washington, and I am hoping that one of them anyway will attend Wesleyan. She has expressed a desire to do so. You can fully sympathize with me in the pride and joy I derive from my grandchildren."

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. D. Lamar, Dorothy (Blount), 238 Georgia Ave., Macon Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Dorothy (Blount) Lamar attended the meeting of the board of directors at Stratford Hall in Virginia in October. She was joined by Mr. Lamar and with friends spent some days in one of the attractive cabins which are allotted to each state director before motoring home and visiting Washington, Richmond, and Williamsburg enroute. During September she and Mr. Lamar spent many anxious days and nights in Atlanta attendant upon Mr. Lamar's only living sister, Fannie (Lamar) Gately, '76, in her serious illness.

Two of the Miller High school girls who helped the alumnae with the Hallowe'en show were Onie Ruth Burns, the daughter of Ruth (Parker) Burns and granddaughter of Susie (Derry) Parker, A. B. '83, and Branch Ellis, daughter of Mrs. S. L. Orr, who was a student of china painting at Wesleyan. Onie Ruth is a great granddaughter of the much-beloved "Professor Derry," for many years teacher of the classics at Wesleyan. Branch is a granddaughter of the Rev. T. D. Ellis, trustee of Wesleyan.

Class Secretary: Mattie Rogers, 274 Georgia Ave., Macon, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Classmates of Martha Rogers will be distressed to learn that she broke her hip last summer, and has been in bed and in her rolling chair since. She is the same happy, entertaining person she always was, and sees all of her friends in her room at her sister Dellie (Rogers) McCaw's. Dellie's granddaughter, Martha (McCaw) Almand's little girl, Carver, is a great joy to all the family.

The class of '85 will regret to hear that Alice (Burch) Barnum died in October. She was present at the Wesleyan commencement in May with her two daughters, Maude Alice Barnum and Sulee (Barnum) Weldon, Wesleyan graduates, and Sulee's little daughter, Alice.

A picture and write-up of the beautiful old home of Blanche (Ellie) Nyhan, more than a century old, on the Zebulon Road near Macon, appeared in The Telegraph in September.

1886

Class Secretary: M. Kate Neal, 1364 Emory Rd., Atlanta, Ga.

Anne (Allen) Johnston wrote from her Franklin, N. C., home that illness kept her from the 1934 class reunion. Her five children are married and she enjoys visiting them in North Carolina, Kentucky, and Florida. At her winter home, 3208 San Carlos, Tampa, Fla., she is busy with housekeeping, fancy rug making, crocheting, and knitting.

We extend sympathy to Lynn Branham in the passing of her brother, Rev. Walter Branham. For many years they have been together at the old home at Oxford, Ga., where Lynn, "Bud" and "Sister Addie" (Addie L. Singleton, 1880) have made a home of hospitality for family reunions, Oxford students, and friends.

Lillian Bremer spent the summer in Mississippi with her nearest relative, a beloved aunt, 86 years old. Having returned in October, she is busy with her art classes at Queen's-Chicora College, Charlotte, N. C.

Laura (Brown) Miller, 1025 E. Jersey St., Elizabeth, N. J., regrets that she was not able to attend the 1934 reunion. She quotes: "Forsan et haec olim meminisse jurabit." Is she remembering The April Fool Picnic, The Burial of the Natural Philosophies, The Mouse Episode in Miss Fannie Andrews' French class, as well as the "Days of Virgil" with Prof. Derry? Laura, come to the Wesleyan Centennial celebration and tell us!

Louise Campbell was a Wesleyan girl just a short time but she never fails to send her Loyalty Fund. She has an interesting life in Washington, D. C., 2400 16th St. N. W.

Annie Belle (Cox) Lanier and Jimmie (Finch) Boone were roommates at the reunion. As they came and went over the campus and buildings they renewed a beautiful friendship. Jimmie says nothing so lovely has come into her life, in many years, as our recent class reunion.

We extend sympathy to Stella (Duncan) Cater in the loss of her fourteen-year-old grandson, Robert Cater III. Her daughter Katharine (Wesleyanne) is doing interesting work in the Eastman hospital.

As president of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Club, Robert (Graham) Warner is an enthusiastic and inspiring worker. During October she gave an illustrated travelogue on Japan, the Hawaiian Islands, and the Holy Land, under the auspices of the Atlanta Woman's Club.

When Blanche (Hall) Neel was hostess at that beautiful supper for her old classmates at her home, 624 College St., Macon, they did not know that she would so soon have such a bad automobile accident. Family and friends say that Blanche's courage and cheerfulness during those days of suffering and recovery helped and inspired those who administered to her. After a month of rest at Indian Springs she says she is "just fine!"

After a long illness, Mamie (Holtzclaw) Robeson has recovered. When the figs were ripe for "a queen's taste," Mamie sent a message to "The Girls" to come up and taste. Annie (Hyer) Coleman, Bobbie (Graham) Warner, Lura Simmons and Kate Neal went the very next day. At "Echota" we found the half had not been told of the delicious taste of those figs when "Bud John" so gallantly gathered and placed them before us. You remember, girls, Mr. John Holtzclaw married our beloved Loula Palmer, who in her beauty and youth, passed away many years ago.

In September Annie (Hyer) Coleman, Bobbie (Graham) Warner, Lura Simmons and Kate Neal wanted to see Lynn Branham, so we filled a basket of nice eatables, and Annie drove us down to Oxford for Lynn. We went to the historic old Salem Camp Ground for our picnic, near the bubbling spring, under age-old oaks. Nature's peace flowed into our souls as we talked of camp meetings, Wesleyan, and olden times. Lynn and Annie showed us the interesting landmarks of Covington and Oxford as we returned to Lynn's home. There we found Addie (Singleton) Branham, '80, Susie (Bonnell) Stone, '82, and Mary Singleton ready to serve us some of Lynn's famous ice cream. It was a perfect day!

Ida (Killebrew) Wood keeps "open house" during the summer at 2809 Highland Ave., Birmingham, Ala., where her sons and daughters like to gather.

A wonderful letter has come from Florence Leonard responding to a class note in the November Alumnae magazine. In her evangelistic work, she has for 45 years traveled and preached in many of the countries of the world. This has been through faith in her Lord, for she has received no salary for her services. Her classmates rejoice in her full life of service for her Lord.

Lizzie (Leonard) Hightower recently spent two months touring western North Carolina. At Asheville, she met Ida (Wilbourne) Ray for the first time since June, 1886. Lizzie says

Ida is with her brother at 63 Edwin Place, Asheville, N. C., and looks so young and talks so interestingly of her world travels.

Annie (Mallery) Andrews has had a recent visit from her son, Hubbell Andrews of Springfield, Mass., and his fiancée. We hear the wedding bells will soon ring. Greetings to dear "Mother Mallery," 89 years, who still blesses the home at 120 Lamar St. Macon.

Lizzie (Merkel) Austin, 1225 S. Trenton, Tulsa, Oklahoma, has several sons and daughters and grandsons in Tulsa. As in girlhood days, she enjoys her music and cultural pleasures. She has recently been elected president of the Clement A. Evans Chapter of U. D. C.

Alice (Miller) Phillips is so busy with her seven grandchildren she could not be at the reunion. Mr. Phillips is in bad health. Alice still loves Wesleyan and everything it stands for.

Classmates of '86 were distressed to read recently of the death of Annie (Mix) Bowdre after a long illness. Annie received honors for her work in genealogy just a short time before her death. A London publishing house asked her to write her life sketch for their book, "Notable Women of America." From Philadelphia came an invitation to become a "Dames of Magna Charta." Her records of twenty-six generations have been verified. There are only five members in Georgia.

Minnie (Morgan) Bailey was missed at our reunion.

Ada (Murphey) Pound and Dr. Jere Pound are with their daughter, Mrs. Tryon Hugins at 226 Cloverhurst Ave., Athens, Ga. After an illness Dr. Pound is to rest a year before resuming his duties at the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta. Ada has seven sons and daughters, twelve grandsons and granddaughters, and a heart big enough for all.

Mert (Murphree) Haralson, Troy, Ala., we remember most pleasantly. Anne Allen says she so much wants to hear from you, Mert. You have her address in these notes.

Emy (Norris) Hall lives a quiet life of cheerful goodness. With Mr. Hall at their Milledgeville home they entertain "the stranger within the gates." Many homesick college girls find comfort and welcome with these friends.

Mattie (O'Daniel) Smith says her church has a wonderful Wesleyan Sunday Welcome for the Wesleyan girls, and they looked so young and pretty. It was no wonder the people invited the girls to their homes for dinner and nice auto rides.

Minnie Fay Rice enjoyed the peach harvest with relatives in Houston County. Little Fay knew just the psychological time to make a visit.

Rosalie (Ridenhour) Brown is teaching music, selling real estate, and interested in all worthwhile things in Cordele. We were pleased to meet her fine son, Bonner Brown of Albany, when he brought his mother to the reunion and he did not forget to visit the florist and send Rosalie a lovely corsage to wear at the banquet.

Chloe (Smith) Hutchinson is not well at her home in Monticello, but sends her love to all the girls.

Emma Smith, who has a record of 48 years of teaching in the Macon schools wanted a summer of rest. She went to Junaluska, N. C., where she avoided everything that required study or tension. There were so many old Wesleyan girls there that she felt quite at home. Emma says: "I get tired in the work, but never of it!"

Minnie (Wilcox) Anderson has recovered from the shock of the automobile accident and spent the summer in Saluda, N. C. Later she visited Charleston, S. C., and Columbia, S. C. For the winter she will be with her daughter, Mrs. Roy Thigpen, in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Lizzie (Wiley) Davis still likes music, poetry, and classic literature, but spends most of her time in the open air at St. Andrews, Fla.

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. A. Douglass (Jennie Martin).

An oil portrait of "Miss Sallie" Boone, for thirty years the beloved librarian of Mercer University, was presented to the university by the alumni association and the artist, Edward Shorter of Macon, a former student of "Miss Sallie's." Miss Sallie Boone, whose gay greeting and laughing friendliness have been institutions at Mercer since 1904, was honored at a meeting of "her boys" on the night in June when the portrait was presented. Literally thousands of former students of Mercer remember her as the outstanding personality of their college days, their always sympathetic friend and counsellor. As a token of their love, the Mercer alumni have placed this portrait in the library as "Miss Sallie" retires this year, and it will smile down with beneficence on tomorrow's Mercer boys.

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. F. Stone (Ida Lowery), Blakely, Ga.; Mrs. Wooten (Belle Stewart), Gray, Ga.

Willie (Dews) Miller of Waycross is the mother of "Wi D" Miller, to whom the Pulitzer prize-winning Georgia novel "Lamb in His Bosom" is dedicated by his wife, the author. That makes her, of course the grandmother of "Little Bill" and the twins, "Nip and Tuck" who were no doubt the finest children in the world to grandma long before they acquired so much fame and newspaper publicity.

Dear 1888:

I want my classmates to know of the marriage of my daughter, "Polly" Florence, to Norman Sydney Buck, of the Economics Department of Yale University, which took place August 1, 1934, at Saint Paul's Episcopal Church, New Haven, Conn.

We were distressed that only six members of the Class of '88 responded when the bugle sounded the call for a "gatherin" at our May Reunion, but even at that we had "honorable mention" as second-best in percentage of attendance! We know it was not indifference to the class nor the college, for some were sick and some were sad, and some lived too far away. We had expressions from many of them of their deep regret at being absent, and of tender recollections of old Wesleyan days. Only one was brave enough to say that she stayed away because she didn't want people to know that she had been graduated forty-six years! This at least proves she hasn't a drop of Chinese blood, or she would consider the passing of the years a matter for congratulation!

Our class was again signally honored when Annie (Bates) Haden, whose term as Alumnae Trustee had expired, was elected President of the Wesleyan National Alumnae Association, and when I saw her later in her home, her active brain was already forming plans that will call for co-operation of the Alumnae, if her ideals are to be realized. I spent a lovely night and morning in her home and found Mr. Haden and herself a charming host and hostess.

Caroline Bonner Speer (216 S. Jackson St., Americus, Ga.) had engaged her cousin, Maude Talbird, as a roommate, and was bringing the college her diploma, but at the last minute was caught "in the fell clutch of circumstance," and failed to arrive for the Reunion. She claims to have had nothing to do for the last year but write, and is afraid she "wasted a lot of paper!" She tells me that she and Zula Ray's daughter each produce plays and skits, but a feeling of patriotism constrained her to restrict her own production in each of these to thirteen, in honor of Georgia being the thirteenth Colony. Her hobby now is collecting autographs. Carrie "hath a good wit" and would prove a boon companion for a rainy day, as her witticisms would "best" the rain!

We missed gentle Belle (Stewart) Wootten at our reunion, and are so glad to hear that she is regaining the strength so sapped by her illness that kept her from us.

Louise (Morse) Riddle, (Davisboro, Ga.) visited in Chattanooga this summer, then on to Chicago "for to behold and for to see" the many attractions of the World's Fair.

While at Wesleyan we learned of the passing of our classmate, Lizzie (Crittenden) Terry, of Shellman, Ga. Since then Emmie has written me of the sorrow caused by the death of this lovely and useful woman. She was prominent in church and civic affairs of her town, and our sympathy goes out to her loved ones and the friends who will miss her sorely in the days to come.

Such a dear letter from Mamie (Haygood) Ardis in far-off California! For the past twenty-five years her family has hied away for vacation purposes to Avalon, on Catalina Island. The family has grown with the years, which demands a larger cottage now, and they go over for several days at a time by relays! There are now eight grandchildren, which puts Mamie and Ernie Malone neck and neck! While the family enjoys golf, shuffleboard and other pastimes. Mamie thinks the indescribable charm of the Island itself is most compelling, and writes of "God changing His portrayal of Nature every hour; shadows, sunrises, sunsets, and the oh, so blue Pacific! Bays, mountains, and Eucalyptus trees, and the crescent-shaped bay city of Avalon, a continuous chain of lights, closely set. "(I wish in her next letter she'd send me a leaf from a Eucalyptus tree!) A clipping from The Catalina Islander tells of the presence of Mamie and her husband, as recent guests of the "Early California Club," when Mr. Ardis related many incidents told him by his father and mother of their journey across the plains in the covered-wagon trains, he being then a child of about four years. They settled on land where his home town of Downey now stands. Occasional visits were made to the then small city of Los Angeles, and a fine dinner could be gotten at the Hotel Natick for twenty-five cents. Later on, while still under ten years of age he was in Los Angeles alone, and decided to go to the new Hotel Nadean to dine. He had never seen a menu, so when one was handed him he asked the waiter what it was. The waiter explained that it was a list of things to eat, and that he could either order just what he wanted, or take the whole thing. Being hungry that's just what he did, as what normal boy wouldn't! To quote from the clipping, "Soon he found the table in front of him and on both sides covered with dishes containing a great variety of food. He did ample justice to it, and when he went to pay his bill was startled to find that it came to $3.25, and he had only a quarter in his pocket! It looked for a time as if he would have trouble with the proprietor, but the matter was finally settled by his promise to return in a few days and pay the bill. Mr. Ardis assured his audience that when he reached home and told his father about it, the old gentleman gave him cause to ever after remember what a menu was, and to be careful in making selections therefrom!"

Hattie (Conner) Stevens (Cave Spring, Ga.) must surely feel that her place as teacher in the School for the Deaf at that place is an inheritance, as her father was its Supt. for fifty years, and her mother and sister each taught there. Her brother is now Superintendent of the New Mexico School. Hattie is entering on her twenty-sixth year in this noble work, and as a side line still writes short stories for a syndicate, but, she says, "only geniuses make a living by literature." Her namesake daughter teaches in the school with her mother, and is deeply interested in Psychology, being herself a good psychiatrist. Hattie has one son, married to a lovely Charleston girl, and is now with the United States Rubber Company at Passaic, N. J., but in his "hours of ease" he not only plays both violin and piano, but writes music as well. Hattie recalls that in her mischievous Wesleyan days she taught some of her kindred spirits (among whom he names Jessie Hopkins!) the alphabet of the deaf, so they could talk to one another across the study hall without getting deportment marks! She tells me that she sees Estelle and Addie Mitchell frequently, and says that they are "quite as young as they used to be." She wishes she could see dear old Dr. Smith once more in his "gallery" and hear him call out in the Trigonometry Class, "Are you over Jordan, Harriet O'Connor?"

Ah, well, "those days of yore will come no more," but at the same time "the memory of things precious keepeth warm the heart that once did hold them!" That is one of my favorite quotations.

Irene Hendrix, (101 First St., Macon, Ga.) writes that her family, one by one, has certainly "passed under the rod" of affliction this year, but that a brighter day seems to be drawing for them. Severe cases of illness have kept the family housed, and she speaks lovingly of her old classmates and would so much appreciate letters from them. Let each one send her a cheering message. You know we all love to get letters and cards, even.

And when one has been housed for a good while every message from the outside is like a breath of fresh air! She tells me that Lutie Wescott is not teaching this fall, but is now at home in Macon, and that Margaret (Smith) Ferrill has been very ill—but is improving now.

Ida Lowrey) Stone, Class Secty.

MRS. LOUIS BROUGHTON
WHITFIELD
NEE WILLIE VANDIVER OF MONTGOMERY, ALA.

To her classmates of Wesleyan College, Willie Vandiver is lovingly remembered for her distinctive personality. The radiant glow of youth shone in her physical beauty and as the years gathered, the added charm of motherhood and home maker developed a strong and forceful character of mature womanhood.

Called to preside over an ideal home with the close companionship of a devoted husband, she lived a life of varied activities. Whatever came to her, she met with capability that insured success. Her social duties, her place as a citizen in her community, her church activities, the mother of a splendid son and daughter rounded out a perfect score.

Willie (Vandiver) Whitfield

The bountiful opportunities of wealth and travel she turned to benefit others. In the interesting book descriptive of her trips to Europe which is dedicated to her grandchildren she has left much that is instructive and inspiring.

The most intimate glimpse of her is found in her verses in which she indulged more to gratify the outbursts of her heart than to display any poetic talent. Notable among these is the poem to her young son upon entering his business career.

Sorrow often clears the vision and quickens memory. In this memorial hour we recall with gratitude the beautiful lives of those we loved in the days of our joyous girlhood.

In youth and old age death and life seem close to each other that some time we do not strongly mark the passing. But in the surging years of life when the tides of love and hope and joy run full, death then is the awful tragedy. An untimely winter came upon the warm and fruitfulness of an abundant summer. We miss her but gratefully acknowledge the blessings of her life.

Tribute of her classmates of Wesleyan College of the class of 1888.

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. P. Coleman (Ida Mangham), Massee Apts., Macon, Ga.

Ring of the college bell each September stirs in my heart memories of youth and happy days when we were all together at Wesleyan. Through the years we cling to the friendships made there and feel an interest in the lives of our classmates. This magazine is appreciative of news sent in of alumnae out of reach of local secretaries.

From October 17th to 20th in Memphis, Tennessee, there was held a convention of South Eastern and South Western Library Associations. On the program were two members of our class who are prominent librarians, Sally May Akin, co-chairman of the "book dinner" at this convention, and Lila May Chapman, in charge of the Public Libraries section. Congratulations. We know you will honor Wesleyan '90!

At the national convention of Phi Mu Fraternity in July at Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, our "Alma Mater" was sung at the banquet, a pretty compliment to Wesleyan, I think.

Lila May Chapman is librarian of the National Phi Mu.

Sincere sympathy and distress has been felt and expressed for Carrie (Harris) Hazlehurst because of the serious motor accident she was in this summer. She is improving and able to be out for an occasional ride now. Her cousin, Leila May (Sasnett) McBride came from New York to see Carrie. Her visit was a pleasure to her many friends and relatives in Macon.

Mamie (Hatcher) Grady spent the summer months in Atlantic City, New York, and Boston. She has returned to Macon and opened her lovely home on Georgia Avenue.

Hattie Saussy has been at Clifton Springs, N. Y., most of the summer.

Agnes Barden spent her vacation basking in the sun and surf of Hollywood, Fla. I chose mountain air and scenery, and enjoyed the beauties and pleasures of Kanuga Lake, North Carolina. I had the pleasure of meeting friends of Lillian MacDonell and hearing that her charm and loveliness have grown with the years.

Good luck, good health, good times to my classmates of 1890!

Ida (Mangham) Coleman, Secretary.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Walter Grace, Sr. (Ruby Jones), 631 Forsyth St., Macon, Ga.

Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth and Bishop Ainsworth attended the Sesqui-Centennial conference in Baltimore in October, Bishop Ainsworth delivering a masterly address there. During the hot weather of the summer, they had a delightful vacation in the Virginia mountains at Wytheville in the territory.

Class Secretary: Mary Bond Smith, Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Mary Bond Smith writes of the sorrow of the class of '92 at the death of Leila (Holmes) Ridout in September, just one year after the death of her husband. Leila leaves one daughter, Ellen (Ridout) Cater, of the class of 1930, who lives now in Greensboro, N. C.

1893

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. O. Jones (Loula Evans), Newnan, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Louise (Kennedy) Hall in the death of her mother, Mrs. Louise Clisby Hall, in September.

Loula (Evans) Jones writes:

"I correct an error made in our class notes of last November. I stated that Henry Miller of Atlanta, the son of Lilla Johnson and Norman Miller was married. Since there was a Henry Miller of Atlanta who married at that time it was a natural mistake; but Lilla (John) Miller's son has just recently married, the ceremony taking place September 22, and the bride being Miss Nancy Surrage Kamper of Atlanta. Mr. Miller was graduated from Emory and from Howard Law School where he was an honor student. He is now associated with the law firm of Alston, Foster and Moise. Miss Kamper attended Hollins and Agnes Scott. They are both quite prominent in the social life of Atlanta, and reside with the parents of the groom at 923 Springdale Rd.

"Gertie Post continues quite ill at her home in Grantville. It was with great sorrow that I read of the passing away of my friend and classmate, Lavinia (Hodgkins) Boylston. The sad event occurred this summer in Atlanta where she resided.

"You asked about myself—let's see—oh yes, my husband and I generally celebrate our wedding anniversary by taking a trip. This year it was a second visit to the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago. Met an old Wesleyan girl en route for the same destination, Ella (Gerdine) Jordan."

Loula (Evans) Jones, Secretary.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Lucy K. Johnson (Lucy Keen), 15 Woodbine Rd., Irvington, N. Y.

Julia Sparks has recently accepted a place as editorial writer on a house organ in Atlanta. For a while she was in the office of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and upon her resignation was succeeded in office by another Wesleyan alumna. She has been doing free lance at home so that she could be with er invalid mother.

Lucy (Keen) Johnson writes: "Your card reminds me how little I have seen of my old '94 friends. I miss the touch of these old classmates.

"A few weeks ago I came across Ellen Hunt, A. B. '24, at Macy's. We both found much to tell and many questions to ask. She has a position there for the summer.

"A pleasure was mine recently in the luncheon with Louise (Hays) Gaston. Her young son is good-looking, and has some of his grandmother's (Louise Frederick Hays) charm and lovely manners. Louise has a lovely apartment on East 65th Street.

"Marion Dean had as her dinner guests recently, Caroline Owens of Columbus and Lorraine Williams of South Carolina, both classmates.

Caroline was studying at Columbia and Lorraine had a counsellor's position at the wonderful Christian Herald Home at Nyack, just across the Hudson River from Irvington.

"Marion Dean is quite busy with her scout work, and is supervisor of Young Women and Wesleyan Service Guild of the New York District Missionary Society.

"As vice-president of the Missionary Society of the New York District, and corresponding secretary of the Westchester County Motion Picture Council I am trying to lead a useful life though far from home.

"I hope this will be the best year in Wesleyan's history."

Eunice Whitehead spent her vacation this summer in Waynesville, N. C., with her brother, Henry, and her niece, Eleanor Whitehead, a Wesleyan graduate of the class of '32.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Harry Ainsworth (Marion Hayes), Thomasville, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Florrie Jean (Richards) Lightfoot in the death of her daughter, Sara Ellen, in her early thirties. Sara Ellen was the wife of Howard P. Sompayrac and the mother of two little sons. Florrie Jean's youngest daughter, Jean, graduated this year from high school; she was sixteen years old in March.

She wrote this poem on the death of her sister:

"To you, sweet sister, who've gone your way,
I dedicate this line,
That when arrives my parting day
Your path may join with mine.
Your life was such as mine would be
If it were as it should;
I wish such traits belonged to me
As made your life so good."

Lois Rogers had a complete change of occupation from her Wesleyan teaching this summer when she built a summer cottage in the mountains of North Georgia.

1897

Class Secretary: Mrs. S. T. Coleman (Edith Stetson), 317 College St., Macon, Ga.

Lina Armstrong has had a disagreeable time recovering from a broken arm at her home in Atlanta.

We extend deepest sympathy to Ruth Clark in the loss of her mother Mrs. J. O. A. Clark of the class of '62, Macon's oldest alumna, past president of the Alumnae Association, and a grand old leader of Mulberry Street Church. Ruth was very wonderful throughout the many months of serious illness following the fall which broke Mrs. Clark's hip.

Vera (Clinton) McBirney continues as a lovely gracious person at her beautiful home in Tulsa, Oklahoma where she is an inspiration to all who know her because of the calm and cheerful way in which she lives her busy life among her friends and family. This summer Mr. McBirney was quite sick for a while as well as her invalid son. She is very fortunate to have her children at home with her. Robert has settled in Tulsa since his graduation from Dartmouth, Martha, the daughter who attended our reunion with Vera, and her husband and son live at home, the little grandson, three years old, being a new delight in the family. Dorothy the older daughter is one of the outstanding young women of Tulsa, helping her father in his business, her mother in social activities, and having many interests of her own; she is a member of the Junior League and a licensed air-plane pilot. Mr. McBirney returning from New York conferences of bankers spoke so often of "Gene Stetson" that Vera finally inquired "where Gene Stetson was from" to discover that this executive of the Guaranty Trust Company is the brother of Edith Stetson of Wesleyan days.

We extend deepest sympathy to Jamie (Fredrick) McKenzie in the death of her husband, Mr. Oscar McKenzie, one of Montezuma's most prominent and successful citizens.

Members of '97 are proud to have another daughter at Wesleyan, Mary Rumph, daughter of Alice (Myers) Rumph and great granddaughter of President Myers entered this fall as a member of the junior class. Sympathy is extended to Alice in the death of her sister, Miss Mamie Myers, for 28 years a missionary to Korea. Miss Myers had been in failing health for some time and was with her sister in Marshallville at the time of her death.

May (Nottingham) Lawton has a lovely granddaughter who came in August at her home in Macon. It is her first one and the daughter of Carolyn (Lawton) Harrell of the class of '32. This baby has lovely handmade clothes and beautiful caps which are a speciality of her grandmothers'.

Helena (Ogden) Campbell who has started our Modern Art collection at Wesleyan has a new interest in Georgia this winter with her only daughter, Mary Eastman Campbell teaching at the University of Georgia in Athens. She is in the Physical Education department. Mary received her training at Columbia. She is an attractive brunette. She has visited Macon relatives and spent one week-end with Edith Stetson Coleman who of course took her for a visit to Wesleyan at Rivoli. She was delighted with the new college and with the collection started at Wesleyan by her mother.

Eula (Riley) Thompson lives in Tampa and came to Macon this summer to visit her son, Carl Sullivan who is quite successful as the Executive Secretary of the Boy Scouts.

Mary (Riley) Henry our successful teacher in the Tampa public schools spent part of the summer in Georgia studying at G. S. C. W. in Milledgeville. She reports the recent marriage of her son who lives with her.

Our class is very proud of the brother of Annie (Sanford) Allen who is now president of the University of Georgia. Annie was recently elected Treasurer of the U. D. C. in Macon.

Edith (Stetson) Coleman has a new role this winter and is again telling fairy tales to little children and looking after their meals and clothes. Her two granddaughters, Elizabeth and Edith Coleman and her son, Samuel, are living with her while the mother recuperates in a sanatorium at Asheville. These added duties, however, do not limit Edith's activities for Wesleyan. It is one of the greatest interests of her life and she is always planning for the college and working for its interests.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. G. Stephens (Lucy Evans), 615 Linwood Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Lucy (Evans) Stephens, enthusiastic secretary of the class of '98, is suffering with a severely broken arm. On a trip to Athens to see her son Robert, a student at the University there, she fell in a drugstore and broke it so that an operation was necessary. She is improving now. Surely one of the hardships attendant upon the injured arm is the handicap in nursing the new grandson. She wrote sometime ago: "No doubt word has reached you that we are the happiest of families over the coming of Dudley, Jr. He is a lovely baby, strong and fine, and is keeping the whole family busy." Here is Dudley Reynolds, Junior's Wesleyan record: Great grandfather Myers—President; Grandmother Reynolds, alumna, Mary Myers; Grandmother Stephens, Lucy Evans, '98; Aunt, Mary Reynolds, '98; Great Aunt, Ida Evans Eve, '72; Aunt, Emma Stephens, 1934; Mother, Allie Stephens, 1929.

Lucy's brother, Lawton B. Evans, beloved citizen of Augusta and superintendent of the Richmond county schools for 51 years, died April 6 after a brief illness.

Susie May (Rumph) Hatcher's husband, A. S. Hatcher, was elected president of the Georgia Automotive Jobbers at a meeting of the association in Macon in the spring.

1900

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. E. Hays (Louese Frederick), Montezuma, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Louese (Frederick) Hays entertained Aileen (Poer) Hinton and Jennie Loyall with a beautiful luncheon in Montezuma in the spring when they were visiting the clubs. She has an attractive old home that is filled with beautiful old furniture and hospitality. She and her son James Hays the third are most gracious hosts. Illness at commencement time prevented her making an address on collecting historical material that we hope to have later. The foreword in her History of Macon County by Lucian Lamar Knight, state historian, sets forth some of her accomplishments as follows: President, Georgia Federation of Woman's clubs, 1919-23; recording secretary, General Federation, 1922; organizer and first president of Southeastern Council of Women's club; state officer of U. D. C., D. A. R., and State Federation for several years; Board of Managers of Colonial Dames; District Chairman of Council of Defense, Chairman of Liberty Bonds; for fifteen years a member of Board of Lady Visitors to G. N. and I. College; the first woman in Georgia to occupy a place on the board of trustees of any state institution; a member of the board of trustees of State Teachers College and of Tallulah Falls School; director for life of Georgia Federation of Woman's clubs. In addition she has been honored with the Litt. D. degree by the University of Georgia, and designated historian of Macon County by the grand jury in formal session.

We extend deepest sympathy to Johnnie (Logan) Lewis in the death of her mother, Tero (Callaway) Amos, '75, in October at her home on Vineville Avenue in Macon after a long illness.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Oscar Crittenden (Helen Land), Shellman, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Classmates All:

I would so much enjoy having some news from each of you and I take this opportunity to ask that you write before the next issue of the Wesleyan Alumnae something about yourselves and families. When you last heard from me I was a grandmother "once" and now it is "twice." Mae Hancock Huie is the new granddaughter. She is six months old. Helen Huie, the first granddaughter, will be five years old in January. Some of the recent alumnae will remember Sarah Crittenden, now Mrs. Malcolm Huie (class of 1928), now of Huntsville, Ala., who is the mother of these dear little girls.

Evalyn Crittenden, my oldest daughter, A. B. '27, has begun her fifth year teaching in the Edison School at Port Chester, New York. New York has quite a number of our Southern girls and a Wesleyan Club, I believe.

Marianna Crittenden is our third daughter and at present is much interested in plans for a Cultural Institute of the Young People's Division of the Columbus District. Here's with love to each of the girls of 1901, and hoping you will let me hear from you.

Helen (Land) Crittenden, Secretary.

Mary (Park) Polhill regretted that a sprained ankle prevented her attending commencement and writes: "If I am not so fortunate as to get back before, you may be sure I will be there for the centennial celebration in 1936 if it is humanly possible for me to get there!"

Dorothy (Rogers) Tilly visited Wesleyan in October and presented her Peace Exhibit to the members of the department of Religious Education. She is doing a splendid work as executive secretary of the North Georgia Missionary Conference. Sympathy is extended to her in the illness of her husband following a serious automobile accident in September.

Class Secretary: Mrs. F. M. Mullino (Mary Addie (Murphy) Montezuma, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Sympathy is extended to Kate (Miller) Calhoun in the death of her father, Judge Alexander Lawton Miller, prominent member of the Georgia bar, and former mayor of Macon, in March at Mrs. Calhoun's home in Savannah.

Nettie Peacock is at home from China, where she has been for many years as a missionary.

1903

Class Secretary: Lucy Lester, 658 Pensacola St., Tallahassee, Fla.

REUNION IN MAY

Alice (Cary) Tupper's son, Sam Tupper, Jr., has a new book recently off the press, "Old Lady's Shoes," the scene of which is laid in Atlanta, Ga.

Linnie (Christie) Melton is president of the Third District Federation of Women's Clubs of Georgia. She succeeds Winifred (Rosser) Moye, A. B. '24, of Cuthbert.

Kate Cooper, of Wonsan, Korea, sent to Wesleyan this fall a most interesting account of some of her experiences as an itinerating missionary in Korea. She tells of her visit to a church in Sandoo which was formerly a Buddhist chapel and became a Christian place of worship through the faith of a Korean woman.

Mary Gordy was at the University of Chicago this summer. From all accounts, she is as wide awake, handsome and interesting as back in 1903. She is teaching home economics in one of the teachers' colleges in Tennessee.

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. L. Ross (Helen Roberts) 629 Orange St., Macon, Ga.

One of the most appreciated visits to the campus was that of Irlene Kate (Hicks) McGinis of St. Louis in September. It had been a long time since she had been in Georgia, but she had kept up with news from the college and had long been eager to see the new plant. This year when it came vacation time she and her son and one of their friends decided upon a motor trip to Florida via Wesleyan. They spent only a short hour looking over the buildings but were pleased with all that they saw. We are hoping for a longer visit some year at commencement.

Annie (McGuire) Beall's son, Olin Gordon Beall, entered St. Luke's Theological school of the University of the South this fall. He left with his young wife for Sewanee, Tennessee, to enter the school in September.

Class Secretary: Margie Burks, Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Fla.

Anne Richardson, daughter of Anne (Shaw) Richardson, won a prize offered by the U. D. C. for the best essay on R. E. Lee written by a Macon grammar school student. Her brother, Stewart Richardson, won the same prize last year.

Oppie (Smith) Guerry's daughter, Clara Martin, is a member of the music faculty of Shorter College this year. Oppie makes frequent trips to Atlanta now that Mr. Guerry is Judge of the Court of Appeals, and business keeps him there.

1906

Class Secretary: Mrs. T. J. Stewart (Octavia Burden), Vineville Ave., Macon, Ga.

Leila Birch is recuperating from a major operation which she underwent recently in an Atlanta hospital.

Sympathy is extended to Eliza (Hill) Martin in the death of her father, Justice Hiram Warner Hill in January, 1934. Judge Hill was a trustee of Wesleyan. Eliza's daughter, Sara Hill Martin, who was a popular student at Wesleyan last year, is attending the University of Tennessee this year and living at home, in Knoxville.

In an article in an Atlanta paper called "A Summer with Vergil" Annabel Horn tells most interestingly of her experiments in farming this summer in north Georgia, using as a guide Vergil's "Georgics." She found his advice sound, and his farm manual practical and more interesting than the government pamphlets on the subject!

Sympathy is extended to Maida (Lingo) Pritchard in the death of her father, George W. Lingo of Macon, interior decorator and artist, October 9.

Jennie (Riley) Crump and her husband have given to the Washington Memorial Library in Macon a collection of books for young boys as a memorial to their son, John Davis Crump, Jr.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Nelson Mallary (Willie Erminger), 117 Callaway St., Macon, Ga.

Mary (Balkcom) Brown's daughter, Louise, is working for Intermediate Credit Bank at Columbia, S. C. Mary B. Brown, her younger daughter, graduated at high school in June, and is now studying at business college.

Sarah Branham got her M. D. degree at the University of Chicago this spring and served her internship in Chicago. She spent about two weeks visiting friends and relatives in Atlanta, Oxford, and other towns, before going back to her work with the Health Department in Washington.

Tecoah (Hendry) Lewis was in Macon on a visit this summer and told of seeing Rhoda Cheves in Washington, D. C., frequently. We must have Rhoda here for the 1936 Centennial Celebration because I hear so many glowing descriptions of her, I am anxious to see her again.

Sympathy is extended to Nannaline (King) Byrd in the sudden death of her husband in the spring. Nannaline and her two sons, Daniel Madison and James King Byrd, are still living in their lovely home, "Tweentrees" on Clifton Road in Atlanta.

Ben Dasher, son of Odille (King) Dasher and a senior "co-op" student in the engineering school of Georgia Tech was highly honored recently by being elected to membership in the Phi Kappa Phi National Honorary Fraternity, an organization whose membership is based on scholarship. Both Ben and Campbell Dasher assisted the Wesleyan Alumnae recently in the Hallowe'en party for the benefit of the Wesleyan Scholarship Fund. They put on a burlesque radio broadcast with the help of some of their friends, and this side show was one of the "hits" of the evening.

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. C. Cantrell (Estelle Manning), Carrollton, Ga.

William F. Quillian, Jr., son of Nonie (Acree) Quillian and Dr. Quillian, former president of Wesleyan, received high honors at Emory University the past year. He was selected one of seven men from the university to be a member of the senior honor society, D. V. S. He was also selected a member of O. D. K., a national honorary society whose members are chosen for scholarship and merit in several activities on the campus. He is president of the senior class this year.

Our class has three daughters at Wesleyan in the freshman class this fall. They are Frances Houser niece and adopted daughter of Nora (Taylor) Houser of Macon; Mary Yancey Pittard daughter of Annie Lou (Sewell) Pittard of Monticello; and Margaret Turner, daughter of Flora (Carter) Turner of Tampa, Florida. They are all lovely girls. Frances was awarded a national honor for her editorial writing in high school last year as well as a Macon alumnae scholarship as an outstanding senior. Mary Yancey is a first honor graduate with four medals to her credit. Margaret is an excellent student too with flaxen curls and the rosiest cheeks that she takes direct from her Scotch father and he direct from the hills of his native land.

Flora and Mr. Turner were up for a week-end in October and were delighted with the college. Earlier Flora wrote "If I have figured correctly, our next reunion is in 1938. I hope so, for I am planning to attend Commencement then anyway to see Margaret graduate. She is looking forward with pleasure to starting her four years at Wesleyan this fall. I think it is the swimming pool, the horses, athletics in general, the lovely dormitories, and just 'college life' that cause all the excitement. She has done enough work to be named valedictorian this year. James also had that honor when he finished high school a year and a half ago. James was 19 in August and Margaret 16 in February."

While in Shanghai, China, on a trip around the world, Mrs. Marvin C. Quillian's brother, Mr. T. C. Brown, and wife of San Francisco, Calif., visited Madame Kung (E-Ling Soong) of the class of 1909. The meeting was arranged in advance by Mrs. Quillian. They were invited out to tea in Madame Kung's lovely home and spent a very enjoyable evening. Mr. Brown, in a recent letter to Mrs. Quillian, said: "Madame Kung invited us to tea in her home on the last evening of our stay in Shanghai. She sent her Cadillac car for us and we were much interested in her magnificent home and her cultured self. We talked of many subjects bearing upon the Chinese and world questions of the day. Dr. Kung is vice-premier of the Republic of China and is secretary of the treasury, a very kind and cultured gentleman.

"Madame Kung recalled her school days and you and Professor Quillian. She had naturally a great deal of dignity and courtesy as befits a woman of her station. She rode back with us to our hotel, and we were glad indeed of this pleasant experience. Thank you for arranging it!"

Manelle (Foster Clements and her husband visited the states in the spring on leave from their missionary work in Cuba. They visited Macon where they were warmly received by their friends, and then went west to visit Mr. Clements' relatives. Helen (Mallary) Birdsey's daughter Pauline Willingham was married in October to Mr. John Joseph McGurk, Jr., of Durham, N. C., in a beautiful home ceremony at the residence of Mrs. Paul Willingham, Pauline's maternal grandmother, in Macon. Pauline spent a year at Wesleyan and later attended Duke, where she graduated in the class of '34. Helen's daughter, Martha Birdsey, who is studying at Kingsmith in Washington returned home to be an attendant in her sister's wedding.

Lillie (Rowan) Hutchinson had an interesting summer in Ithaca, N. Y., when her husband exchanged pastorates for the summer with the minister there who occupied Rev-Hutchinson's pulpit in St. Augustine.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Robert D. Shaw (Susie Kroner), 2019 E. 14th St., Tulsa, Okla.

Susie (Kroner) Shaw of Tulsa, Okla., writes: "I just had a letter from Lee (Belk) Johnson who lives in Gainesville, Ga. She says her home and children absorb most of her time.

"Nell (Irwin) Horkan 'most original' Wesleyan girl in 1910, also lives there and Helen T. (Mathews) Luce of Fort Valley, Lee's roommate at Wesleyan, had recently visited her.

"We are still in Tulsa though were back at our Black Lake (Michigan) summer cottage for three months during the hot dry months here. It was quite a chilly summer up there. We had log fires going nearly every morning. Also with another couple, Bob and I had a delightful trip through the Upper Peninsular—a place of wonderful interest and beauty, abounding in waterfalls, lakes and gorgeous hard wood forests. We saw all sorts of wild life—it is a huntsman's paradise, you know.

"Bob, Jr., just turned eighteen, had his first job this summer driving a treading truck in west Texas and New Mexico. He is a sophomore at Tulsa University and quite active on the campus this year."

Class Secretary: Mrs. Warren Timmerman, (Marie Adams), 657 College St., Macon, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Carrie Brown, teacher in the Macon school system, in the death of her mother in October.

Classmates of Katherine (Bunting) Morton will regret to learn of her sudden death early in September of a heart attack. Her only daughter, Frances, was married quietly in October to Mr. W. R. Massengale, Jr., of Atlanta. Frances attended Washington Seminary in Atlanta, and was a member of the Debutante Club of 1933-34.

Betty Lou (White) Fisher had the pleasure again of a summer visit from her mother, our Wesleyan "Mrs. White." Her husband continues busy with his friends, his radio, his letters in his invalid room.

Class Secretary: Jennie Loyall, Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga.

Lillian Battle is living again in Macon, having opened the old home on College Street. She has had an interesting life and met interesting people as she and her mother have been hostesses in the hostess houses of army posts in Virginia.

Alice (Domingos) Evans is recovering from a serious operation that she had to undergo recently. She has been to Macon for frequent but all too short visits since she has been living in Atlanta, coming once to speak on Flowers of the Phillipines to the Vineville Garden Club.

To Mary Hill we extend sympathy in the death of her father Judge Hiram Warner Hill, Associate Justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, and for thirteen years a member of the Wesleyan Board of Trustees.

We extend sympathy to Martha (King) Johnson in the death of her mother in August. Mrs. King made her home with Martha in Waycross.

Jennie Loyall was abroad for three months during the summer.

Rosalie (Mallary) Willingham's daughter Rose was a bridesmaid for Pauline Willingham, daughter of Helen (Mallary) Birdsey in October. Rose is in school this year at Salem Academy, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Wilma Orr had a lovely tea that the Ft. Valley alumnae gave in honor of Alleen (Poer) Hinton, Mrs. W. D. Anderson, and Jennie Loyall at her attractive home. It was like old times for these three members of 1912 to be together, and Mrs. Orr and Wilma were most gracious in their hospitality and in their loyalty. They have a beautiful old home in spacious grounds that they have recently bought. When Alleen and Jennie were visiting the Tifton Club, they had a pleasant call upon Winnifred (Tumlin) Smith and her sons.

This has been a year of great sorrow to Ves Parker in the death of her gentle little mother a year ago and in the loss in the spring of her oldest brother Zeb who had been a father and brother and pal to her ever since we have known her when she first came to Wesleyan. He was the head of their ranch and cattle business, too, and left Ves feeling a great business responsibility. He was the brother who married Vivian Lee and the father of the "babies" whom Ves has reared since Vivian's death. These girls are a great comfort to Ves. Everyone says they are lovely and repay Ves for the best effort she has put into rearing them. Vivian is a talented musician, recently composing the music and lyric of a song used on a program there, and then playing the accompaniment. Ves writes: "I was thinking today of Mrs. Burks in literature class saying how a certain poem had lifted us up and carried us forward. Those of us in our class were lifted up by the influence of Wesleyan but we were carried on through different pathways."

Alleen (Poer) Hinton ended a most successful three year administration as president of the national alumnae association this commencement, and is beginning her work as chairman of the centennial committee. She and her husband had a vacation trip by water to New York and Boston. In October she was matron of honor at the wedding of her only brother, Henry to Margaret Underwood of Atlanta, in St. Mark Methodist Church. Henry is a surgeon in Atlanta.

Reba (Moore) Standifer's daughter Sadie entered the freshman class this fall as the first daughter of her class. Sadie is a pretty brunette, enthusiastic about Wesleyan, and interested in life in general, just the type girl we can all be proud of. Reba says she will be satisfied if we make a typical Wesleyan girl of her; Reba has already given her a good start for she is sweet, unspoiled and attractive.

Lucile (Ray) Lawton visited Georgia in the summer with her family. Her father was sick in Madison, and she stopped in Macon enroute. She now lives in Montgomery, Ala., 9 Agrew Street. Friends who saw her say that she looks younger than ever in spite of her two almost grown sons, and that they are splendid boys, handsome, with perfect manners. Walter, Jr., is a sophomore at Washington and Lee.

We have our first grandchild too! Handsome announcement cards told of the arrival on October 28, 1933 of Marvin Pierce the third. It is hard to believe that the attractive young gentleman that attended our reunion just a few years ago as Walter Tilley's son is now a proud parent himself.

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. J. Taylor (Elizabeth Baker), 1985 Ponce de Leon Ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

Callie Cook had a beautiful exhibit of her china painting in the Georgia State Fair. Her mother has recently celebrated her 90th birthday in Milledgeville. She is the author of the History of Baldwin County, is still interested in all civic affairs and is a regular attendant at the Methodist church.

Katharine Carnes worked during the summer in the New York Public Library among old friends with whom she first began her library work before her appointment to Wesleyan. She saw many Georgia and Wesleyan friends there as well as at the Memphis meeting of the American Library Association, which she attended in October.

Among the Wesleyan alumnae at the Library Association meeting were Leonese (Park) Robinson and Ella Bess (McMichael) Schmeisser, both members of the class of '13. Their husbands are representatives of book publishing houses.

Class Secretary: Mrs. Carroll Griffin (Kathleen Holder, 115 16th St., N. W., Atlanta, Ga.

Helen Brannen is superintendent of the Ware County Hospital, and president of the District Nurses' Association.

Ruth (Credille) Bakes and her two sons spend the month of August in Mountain City, Ga.

Kathleen (Holder) Griffin had a delightful trip to Havana, Cuba, in the spring, visiting Annie (Marchman) Malone and meeting with the Wesleyan alumnae in Havana. Later Annie visited Kathleen in Atlanta, and Kathleen had a tea for her Wesleyan alumnae group honoring Annie. Mary (Robeson) Boardman of Marietta assisted at the tea.

Floye (Powell) Dumas went with the Georgia Caravan to the West Coast this summer, and had a most interesting trip.

Sympathy is extended to Louise (Willis) Cater in the death of her fifteen-year-old son, Robert, in the spring.

Class Secretary: Mrs. W. S. Dodd (Carolyn Knight), 1913 S. W. 11th St., Miami, Fla.

Ruth (Beeland) Jackson writes to call attention to the fact that 1915 has a daughter in the freshman class this year—Josephine Board of Cienfuegos, Cuba, the daughter of Rev. Joseph G. Board and Anita (Morgan) Board. Josephine's great-grandmother graduated at Wesleyan, too.

Mary Brown is again living in Tampa and teaching history in the high school there. She completed her Master's degree at Harvard a year ago. She spent the past summer in Macon at Hollybluff with her sister Emily (Brown) Edwards, '26, and enjoyed the three nieces and nephews. Her address is 609 Swann Ave., Tampa, Fla.

1916

Class Secretary: Mrs. Jessie W. Davis (Merlyn Hiley,) Vineville Court Apt., Macon, Ga.

Christine Broome taught Spanish in the Wesleyan summer school and later enjoyed a trip to the Florida coast.

Louise (Callaway) Cutler has a son, William Callaway Cutler, born in June.

Verna (French) Shaffer writes: "Just two weeks ago my little boy was a year old. I can hardly believe it. He has been such a joy ever since he came. Caring for him keeps me pretty busy, but besides that I direct the M. E. choir and a double trio."

Belle (Ross) Valentine is president of the Ingleside-Rivoli Garden Club in Macon.

An article on "What Religion Means to Me" by Madame Chaing Kai-Shek (Mai-ling Soong) appeared in the March number of the Forum. Her picture appears with the article, a charmingly written, inspirational story of her personal experience.

1917

Class Secretary: Georgia Baker, Public Library, Main Branch, Toledo, Ohio.

Sympathy is extended to Patsy Huff of McIntyre in the death of her father, Charles M. Huff, in July.

Among the names often seen in the book review columns of the Macon Telegraph are Jean (Oliphant) Rentz, A. B. 1917, Paula Snelling, A. B. '19, Carolyn (Fulghum) McCord, A. B. '24, Frances (Peabody) McKay and Eunice Thomson, A. B. '25, and Nancy Stewart, A. B. '29.

Marion (Elder) Jones is taking some courses at Wesleyan this fall toward completing the work for her A. B. degree. This in addition to her directing the Little Conservatory Players keeps her busier than ever.

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. L. Murphy (Marion Cook), 69 Pine St., Rockview Centre, Long Island, N. Y.

Ray Ballard studied music in New York this summer under Edwin Hughes. She and her sister, Louise (A. B. '24) had a delightful pleasure trip to Boston, too. Ray has been busy this fall getting ready for the piano recital she is to give soon.

Lucille (Mallory) Sparks has a son, Willis Brazeal Sparks, who will be a year old in January.

Sara (Singleton) King has had such success writing love stories for "pulp" magazines that she has to have a secretary to help her with the mechanics of her work.

Dear Classmates:

I heard the other day from Vail (Jones) Weems, dear, dependable Vail, who was always there to help the class of '18 put things over with enthusiasm. She and Dr. Weems were at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., in May observing surgery and x-ray work. They are now remodelling their home in Sebring, Fla., and their family are all well and happy.

Lucile Bowden is still principal of McDonough High School. She came to see me this summer and is as bright and sweet as always. Many of us remember some of the few "blue" days at Wesleyan when Lucile would come in like a ray of sunshine to make everything bright. She is still doing that. Besides being principal she teaches 38 seniors French, history, and English; teaches three other classes of French and Latin, is treasurer of the school and of the Woman's Club, is vice-president of the P. T. A., is in charge of the Home Department of the Sunday School and teaches a class. She is so busy I don't see how she lives, and yet she is the same calm, sweet, unhurried person.

Mary Ella (Ryder) Chancellor, '17, of Yatesville has five splendid children, three of whom are in school, and all doing well.

I saw three members of our class at the meeting of Group III of the Atlanta alumnae meeting recently. They were Effie (Parker) Aiken, Sue (Tanner) McKenzie, and Julia (Osborne) Withers. Julia is doing some splendid work as president of the P. T. A. of Bass Junior High School.

Others present were Leola (Miller) Kendrick, '15; Mary (Quillian) Poole, '15; Ruby (Stafford) Rosser, '14; Inez (Ellington) Greene, '16, our new and very efficient chairman; Sara (Noyes) Callaway, '17; Gladys (Slappey) Maddux, '15; Kathleen (Holder) Griffin, '14; Harriet (Robeson) Lovett, '16; Helen (McCrary) Randall, '16; Kathleen (Hudson) Garner, '12; Annie (Crum) Wiedeman, '17; Martha (Ryder) Barnwell, '08; Miriam Rogers, '17; Nell (Glenn) Slater, '18; Elizabeth (Baker) Taylor, '13; Laurian Johnson, '13.

These twenty of us were delightfully entertained at the home of Floy (Oliver) Alden on Roswell Road. Miss Frances Gooch, teacher of oral English at Agnes Scott and former Wesleyan teacher, gave a beautiful and charming presentation of the friendship and marriage of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning. With such an enthusiastic beginning you should hear from Group III of the Atlanta alumnae in a big way this year.

Edith Johnson, class of '19, is doing good work as a teacher in the Atlanta Bass Junior High School.

Callie Hale '16, is still working for the U. S. Veterans' Bureau on Peachtree Rd.

Mary Kilgore, '17, is working for Scott-Foresman School Book Publishing Co., Atlanta, and has been sent on important trips to Chicago and to Louisiana for her firm.

I am still a private duty nurse and have nursed a dozen cases this year. It is thrilling work and is more like missionary work than any I have done. I truly love it and enjoy it.

Genie Fincher, Class Captain.

1919

Class Secretary: Mrs. A. L. Gilmore (Rosaline Jenkins), 1253 N. President S., Jackson, Miss.

REUNION IN MAY

Lucia (Chappell) Domingos is the new president of the Macon Wesleyan Club, succeeding Bruce (Cleckler) Flanders, '22. Lucia is also the teacher of the large Sydney Bayne Bible class of the Vineville Methodist Church.

1920

Class Secretary: Mrs. Mark Ethridge (Willie Snow), Washington, D. C.

REUNION IN MAY

Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars is editing the page for girls in The Household Magazine, published in Topeka, Kansas. A biographical sketch and a picture of Rebecca appeared in the January issue of the magazine.

Mary (Melson) Butler lives on Beech Avenue in Macon. She is married to Earl W. Butler, solicitor of the city court, and they have two fine sons, Earl, Jr., nine, and Melson, five. Her friends—and that includes almost every person in Cherokee Heights,—say that her boys are rightly named, for Earl looks exactly like his father while Melson "takes after" Mary's side of the house. Mary is an invaluable member of the Cherokee Heights Methodist Church where she is president of the Julia M. Tindall Missionary Society, president of the Genevieve Taylor Sunday School class, and pianist for the adult department of the Sunday School. She is chairman of the committee on Education and Publications of the P. T. A. Her brother, Rev. D. P. Melson, was delegate to the General Conference at Jackson from Czechoslovakia, having been sent to that country as a missionary several years ago. He is doing graduate work at Yale at present.

Willie (Snow) Ethridge, now living in Washington, D. C., where Mark is assistant manager of the Washington Post, had a charming article in the Good Housekeeping for September.

Dr. Leon P. Smith, Jr., husband of Dorothy (Ware) Smith, is professor of romance languages at Washington and Lee University, having resigned as assistant dean of students in the college of arts and sciences at the University of Chicago to accept this position.

1921

Class Secretary: Mrs. Eugene Torrance (Mary Fagan), 532 E. 37th St., Savannah, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Lillian (Goodwin) Rambo was recently made postmistress of Marshallville. She is an active member of the Wesleyan Club in Marshallville.

Lucile Lewis writes: "It always gives me so much pleasure to read about Wesleyan friends that I have decided to send you some items. On May 17 a lovely Wesleyan tea was given by our president, Annie (Marchman) Malone in honor of the high school graduates of the German School and also the Methodist Mission School, Colegio Buenavista, of Havana, Cuba. The club was honored in having as a speaker on this delightful occasion, Kathleen (Holder) Griffin of Atlanta. In her charming way she pictures for our guests the beautiful college campus and buildings. Alumnae were delighted to hear of the interesting work of other clubs for our Alma Mater. Marjorie (Jacobs) Caudill, A. B. '28, entertained with several musical selections. After the program a delicious buffet luncheon was enjoyed.

"Manelle (Foster) Clements has returned to Havana after several months in the states. Her husband is dean of the Methodist Seminary in Havana."

tended the Memphis conference of librarians in October.

1922

Class Secretary: Mrs. E. T. Flanders (Bruce Cleckler), 206 Buford Place, Macon, Ga.

REUNION IN MAY

Kate (Mikel) Gillen and Josephine Willingham, Cons., have opened a studio of physical culture, voice culture and interpretation in Macon.

1923

Class Secretary: Mrs. R. A. Patterson (Ruth Sears), Cuthbert, Ga.

Sarah Jones, reviser at the Library School of Emory University, attended the A. L. A. meeting in Memphis.

Leona (Letson) Wiley has a son, Robert Allen Wiley, born September 5.

Mary Rogers is now working as aide for the Appling County Relief Administration, with headquarters in Baxley.

Class Secretary: Mary Thomas Maxwell, Elberton, Ga.

Elizabeth (Comer) Wiese, of St. Paul, Virginia, has a baby daughter, Betty, born during the summer.

Ailene (Corry) Arensbach, who has a position near Barnesville with the government relief organization, visited Wesleyan in May. She has an adorable baby girl, called "Corry."

Bonnie Sue (Davis) Awtrey's husband, Hugh Awtrey, has resigned his position on the faculty of Mercer University to take a position with the editorial staff of the Atlanta Georgian-American.

Carolyn (Fulghum) McCord's husband, Fletcher McCord, is assistant on the faculty of Duke University, and is taking graduate work in psychology. Carolyn is teaching French in the high school in Macon. Their little son, Fletcher, Jr., is six years old now.

Ruth (Holden) Lundy has been living in Cordele since last year. Her husband is county agent. She has two children, a girl and a boy.

Elizabeth Malone attended Illinois University Library school for eight weeks during the summer, and is teaching again this fall in the Jonesboro, Arkansas Junior high school.

Mary Miller had a lovely eastern trip this summer. She is back in Jacksonville and has been promoted from junior high to senior high school.

Quinette Prentiss is now librarian at Andrew College in Cuthbert.

Florine (Smith) Hunter has four children, Parks, Jr., Caroline Banks, Peggy, and baby Peter Alexander, named for his great great grandfather of Elbert County, Ga.

Eileen Surrency is in Jacksonville, Fla., taking a business course. She was in New York this summer.

Sympathy is extended to Mary (Van Valkenburg) Wilcox, Minnie (Van Valkenburg) Holt, A. B. '27, and their brother and sisters in the death of their mother in January and of their father in September. Mary has a little son, Richard Wilcox, born during the summer. Her son, Van Wilcox, is about three years old.

Class Secretary: Celeste Copelan, Greensboro, Ga.

Mary Bennett (Cox) Dunwoody has two charming little sons, Elliott, Jr., and Eugene Cox.

Sarah (Culpepper) Cutts has a little daughter, Sarah Caroline, born in October.

Addie Beall Early was one of the Mercer alumnae members initiated into The Cardinal Key, honorary fraternity, whose membership is based on scholarship, campus activities, cultural and character record. Addie Beall has her M. A. degree from Mercer.

Frances (Peabody) McKay has a third child and first son, Clifford Anderson McKay, Jr., born August 17.

Vo Hammie (Pharr) Carr and her family are moving to Eldorado, Ga., where they have a farm.

Marie (Patten) Smith is living now in Atlanta, 996 Courtney Drive N. E. She has two darling children, Caronelle and Sara Dean, and a sweet home.

Eunice Thomson won the $25.00 prize offered by the Georgia Poetry Society for the best poem submitted in 1934 for her poem "Sonnet". We extend sympathy to her in the loss of her mother, Nellie (Lachlison) Thomson, '95, in the spring.

(Lachlison) Thomson, '95, in the spring.

Elizabeth Winn spent her vacation from her Registrar's office at the college at Jacksonville Beach.

Class Secretary: Mrs. A. E. McIntosh

(Dorothy Thomas), 15776 Turner Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Julius Amis is librarian in the public library at Albemarle, N. C., and attended the meeting of librarians in Memphis this fall.

Isabella Harris is teaching in Washington, D. C.

Mildred (Jackson) Cole wrote from Shreveport, La., while her classmates were having their reunion at Wesleyan: "Wesleyan's number in Shreveport is increasing. In January Marie (Dover) Carter moved here from New Orleans. Her husband was transferred here with the Fulton Loan Company. She is the same attractive, enthusiastic Marie and has begun taking an active part in church activities here. At about the same time Mary Scott (Barton) Higginbotham, ex '27, moved here. She has two attractive children, a little boy seven and little girl two.

"Lola (Hagood) Davis has a little girl about a year old and has a very attractive home in Gainesville, Ga.

"Carrie Lou Allgood visited me overnight in Baconton last summer, and is still an enthusiastic and very competent Y. W. C. A. Industrial Secretary in Atlanta.

"Mildred Sessions of Soperton, Ga., taught in Marietta last year. I have not heard from her this year.

"My sister, Dolores (Jackson) Davis, A. B. '28, is quite happily married and lives in Boston, Ga.

"My address is still 3465 Beverly Place, Shreveport, La. I am traveling with my husband while he attempts to cure these pecan diseases for Uncle Sam."

Mamie Jones is assistant in the speech department of the Woman's College of Alabama.

Margaret (Zattau) Roan is the youngest woman ever to have been made a member of the National Board of the League of Women Voters. She was elected regional director of the Southeastern region in April at a convention of the league in Boston.

Carroll (Boyd) English has a son, William Perry English, Jr., born February 21.

Elizabeth Gaulding who received her Library degree from the library school of Emory University in June has been appointed librarian of Murphy Junior High School in Atlanta. She attended the library conference in Memphis in October.

Annie Mays is now assistant librarian of Mercer University. She received her library degree from Emory in 1932 and last year was librarian at Norman Junior College.

Elizabeth (Little) Baker of Thomaston has a daughter, born April 19, Elizabeth Little Baker.

Dorothy (McKay) Bollendonk has a son, William W. Bollendonk, born September 19, to be called "Billy."

Margaret Newton is practicing law in Griffin.

The wedding of Katherine Rountree to Mr. Percy Christian in October was a most impressive one performed by her father at his church in a Macon suburb in the presence of a large number of Wesleyan faculty members and students who had enjoyed her friendship in the years that she had taught at the college in the department of biology. Maud (Bradley) Lee, '21, and pianist for the college gym, gave a pre-nuptial music program—and played for the ceremony.

Julia ("Tommie") Thompson writes from Cartersville, Ga.: "How is everybody—and Wesleyan? Please tell them all that I'm home again from Parrall, Mexico, and that though I've had a wonderful time these past three years, I'm having an awfully good one now."

Helen (White) Thornton has moved back to Macon after having lived in Albany, Waycross and Columbus. She is living in the Vineville Court Apartments. She is the same enthusiastic, friendly person, and was chairman of the committee on side shows at the Alumnae Hallowe'en party in October.

Martha Watts left Wesleyan in the spring to enter government work in the line long closest to her heart, social service. She worked first in Perry, but has been transferred to Atlanta recently and is thrilled with her work there.

Sympathy is extended to Jeannette (Wallace) Oliphant in the death of her mother in March.

Nancy Stewart spent the summer abroad completing her thesis for her Ph. D. degree at the Sorbonne where she has made an outstanding record among American students. She did interesting research among old documents at the Opera in Paris. She and Dr. Jane Wolf of the Wesleyan faculty made the trip together and were joined for part of the vacation by Alberta Wolf who completed her baccalaureate examinations at the Sorbonne in July with distinction.

Class Secretary: Mrs. J. Wesley Green, Fort Valley, Ga.

Josephine (Humphries) Jones of Dublin has twin girls, born in September.

Marion (Johnson) Gilchrist writes: "My brother Douglas was having dinner near Columbia University this summer and went by the Georgia tree to see who was here. He found Caroline Owen's address, so I got in touch with her. She was studying, of course, on another degree! She and Lorraine Williams, who was over at the Christian Herald Home for Children across the Hudson from me at Nyack, N. Y., had dinner with us one night. It was grand to be together once more."

Helen Kilpatrick has taken a position in Atlanta as assistant to the advertising manager of Sears-Roebuck.

Ruth (Smith) Anderson writes: "We have a dear sweet baby girl, born February 9. She has a short name to suit her diminutive size, Jan Anderson. Of course she is the most wonderful child anyone ever had."

Cornelia (Turner) Thornton writes: "After I graduated in June, 1930, I went to Elberton to teach in the fall. In December I married B. I. Thornton, Jr., of Elberton. We lived there until October, 1932 and have been in Hartwell since then.

"I have two daughters. Lillian Mayson was born in June 1932, and Cornelia Turner in October, 1933. I am looking forward to receiving my next copy of the Wesleyan Alumnae. It is the only way I have of hearing anything about most of my school mates."

Class Secretary: Hazel Macon, Moultrie, Ga.

The Perry Wesleyan Alumnae Club honored Martha Cooper, newly-elected second vice-president of the National Wesleyan Alumnae Association, with a garden party during the summer at the home of Bessie (Houser) Nunn, '07. The guests were received in the rock garden by Laura (Gilbert) Anderson, '32, president of the local club, Clyde Tabor, conservatory '31, and the honoree.

Louise Houser, '30, presided over the punch bowl in the summer house. A salad course carrying out the color scheme of purple and lavender, the college colors, was served by a group of high school girls. Around the punch table were bowls of flowers arranged according to class colors.

Aurelia (Cooper) Evans, '24, presented an original skit, a take-off of Commencement in 1934. Those taking part on the program were Bessie (Houser) Nunn, Kate (Hurst) Davis, Helen (Bloodworth) Davis, Louise Houser, Martha Cooper, Sara (Gilbert) Tabor, Clyde Tabor, and Laura (Gilbert) Anderson.

Mrs. Nunn was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Caroline Nunn, now a member of the Wesleyan class of 1938.

Rachel Johnson who works in the office of the Library School of Emory University attended the conference of the American Library Association in Memphis in October.

Betsy McConnell did graduate work at the School of Social Service of Columbia this summer.

The class of '31 will be distressed to learn of the death of Marian Jordan on November 4, after a brief illness. She had gone back to her work as a teacher in the Macon schools after an attack of danguue fever, when she was taken ill with pneumonia and died five days later in the hospital when everyone felt that she had begun to improve. She was the only child of Mrs. May Curd Jordan and the late Judge Richard C. Jordan. She brought distinction to our class while she was still in college by heroically risking her life to save

Mr. Malcolm Everett of Macon and Mr. Frank Mathews of Atlanta at St. Simons island by life-saving methods learned at Wesleyan.

Bessie (Lester) Hart has a little daughter, born in September, to be called "Lester".

Elizabeth McClenny is teaching in Coolidge. She visited her brother in Cordele this summer.

Ming Hwa (Nyeu) Moy is back in China, at Nanking, where her husband has an appointment from the National Reconstruction Committee as a technical member.

Alfreda Stanley was working in the F. E. R. A. office in Irwinton when last heard from. Her sister, Elizabeth, A. B. '24, was administrator in Lyons. Her sister Cora, A. B. '27, now Mrs. Mathews, who lost her husband last fall, has a little girl born in June.

Nell (Trowbridge) Anderson is living in Ithaca, N. Y., and a recent letter to Dr. Whitman leaves no doubt that she is supremely happy. Her husband is assistant district engineer with the New York state T. E. R. A. They have just moved into a little new seven-room house on the edge of the Cornell University campus, and have bought and refinished themselves the Early American furniture with which it is furnished. Nell writes that the climate agrees with her; she is ever so much "huskier" than when she was at Wesleyan.

Class Secretary: Blanche Wannamaker, Cheraw, S. C.

Virginia Townsend, assistant librarian of Wesleyan, Dorothy Simmons, teacher in Macon schools, and Billie Hendricks all studied at Columbia during the summer.

Genevieve Vasset writes from Paris: "The Alumnae magazine is a great pleasure, because I like to read about the girls

I know, and I am so attached to Wesleyan.

In France, we don't have the same sort of feeling about our colleges because we don't live there; we just spend a few hours each day there. We have no college life, and there is not the same atmosphere. That is why I love Wesleyan more than any school I have ever been in." Jennie Loyall saw her on several pleasant occasions this summer between Genevieve's busy moments at the University where she was completing her work for an advanced degree. She was planning to spend her vacation with her family in Spain.

Marjorie Watson teaches English at the high school at Greenwood, S. C., the home of Miss Louise Rivers of the faculty, and only sixty miles from Marjorie's own home.

Class Secretary: Christine Quillian, Duke University, Durham, N. C.

Just as we go to press, announcement comes of Christine Quillian's approaching marriage to Hubert Floyd Searcy. Christine is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Quillian and grew up in the college while her father was president here. She was for four years president of her class at Wesleyan.

The wedding is to be on December 22 at Wightman Chapel of Scarritt College in Nashville, Tenn., at 5:00 P. M. Christine will wear ivory satin with a veil. Her attendants, Lucille Wallace, maid-of-honor, and Dorothy Manget and Louise Pittman bridesmaids, will wear blue and dahlia chiffon dresses.

The groom is Alumni Secretary of Birmingham-Southern College. The couple became engaged last year while both were doing graduate work at Duke University. The best man is to be Mr. Huntley, secretary of the Southern Association of Colleges.

Christine and her mother visited in Macon while Dr. Quillian attended the South Georgia Conference in Macon, and were entertained by many friends.

Among the parties given for Christine in Macon was one at the home of her aunt, Clara (Carter) Acree, A. B. '19.

All Wesleyan was saddened on September 24 by the tragic death in an automobile accident of Anne (Herndon) Hodges and her six-weeks-old daughter, Anne. Her husband, Walter Hodges, was seriously injured, but is recovering. As they were returning to Macon after spending the week-end with Anne's parents in Elberton their car collided with a car in which were several G.S.C.W. teachers and students, all of whom were painfully injured also, but are convalescing. Anne, who was May Queen at Wesleyan in 1933 and was president of the Student Government Association that year, was buried with her baby in Elberton.

"Ruth Bailey was married to Paul Garner in August. She is completing her work on her M.A. degree at Duke, and her husband is working on his Ph.D. there.

"Sue Reavis is doing welfare work in Atlanta. She attended the University of Chicago for study in social work last summer.

"Mary Norman is doing welfare work in Cedartown.

"Carolyn Bacon is here in Nashville working for the Benson Printing Co. We have been together several times and enjoyed talking about Wesleyan.

"Edith Tarver studied designing in New York for six weeks last summer.

"Frances Harris and Caroline Radford attended Duke summer school last summer.

"Helen Flanders is teaching again in Lyons, Ga.

"And as for myself—I am just trying to learn how to be domestic. It was good to be back at Wesleyan for a little while in September, and I am looking forward to being back again in November."

Ida Woodward is now connected, as a welfare worker, with the Fulton County welfare department in Atlanta.

Class Secretary: Sarah Jones, 2706 Tenth Ave., Columbus, Ga.

The editor would like to congratulate the class secretary and the class captains of '34 who, almost "to a man" answered our request for news notes of '34. If it happens that we do not know what you are doing this year, please write and tell us. And remember!—we want your new address every time you move!
